

THE PROBLEM

QUESTION TIME IS NOT FAIR DINKUM

The public is disgusted with the behaviour of politicians who load questions with personal insults and (even when the question is not loaded) responses are avoidant, dismissive and time wasting. The speaker of the house is also lax in enforcing direct, concise answers to direct, concise questions.

THE SOLUTION

REFORM QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS IN QUESTION TIME

Give the speaker of the house the power to invoke a 'fair dinkum' mode. A particular question is labelled as fair dinkum (which will be rare) and the respondent has 30 seconds to concisely, truthfully respond or suffer a personal fine of $30,000 for each repeated instance that he/she does not answer the question to the satisfaction of 'both' the questioner and the speaker of the house.

HOW TO BAN FAKE AI: <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/5wFfozmuYdo>

REFORMING QUESTION TIME: <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/J6nmtQCocXQ>

HELPING DISHEARTENED YOUNG PEOPLE: <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/feAcNqTKmU4>